Rising Sun Brings New Beginnings

---

Are you ready to expand into a more radiant version of you?

If the answer is yes, a transformational energy session may be for you! My work as a Transformational Energy Weaver & Artist is about transformation—in living, in healing and in making art. I've always loved the universal stories about good and evil. Fairy tales, magical realms and science fiction movies feed my sense of wonder and mystery. I still get totally immersed in the hero's transformational journey of confronting and rising above the challenges on her path.

It fascinates me how life provides everything that is needed to weave the connecting webs of our individual paths. Transformation is about life force which is ever changing. To be alive is to be in a constant state of change. This is big heart work and big heart energy.

Holding Space

When ideas, images and outlooks emerge from the field of pure potentiality, there's often contraction-like seismic activity. Bringing anything into form whether it's new ideas, art or a brand new you is a birthing process. It takes courage, trust and often, someone holding space for you while you go about the process of emerging. Providing sacred and safe space for new energy to emerge is something I have honed and absolutely love to do. Holding space is mostly about getting out of the way and trusting.

This article by Heather Plett sums up holding space beautifully, view here.

New Energy Emerging

There's nothing more exciting to me than witnessing new life energy take form. Living in a huge, messy, sometimes dysfunctional and ever changing circle of family, friends and colleagues has taught me the importance of unconditional love and to trust in each individual's soul to lead in its own unique way.

Letting Go and Moving Forward

In order to transform into the people we are becoming – to follow the energy of what is beckoning, we have to let go of the old stories, limiting patterns and stale beliefs. My energy medicine training allows me to clear the luminous energy field of blocks from unhealed trauma to help clear the path. Once cleared, the person is more able to access their innate wisdom and guidance. Images and messages received in the session often reveal clues about next steps.

Unhealed Trauma

Outwardly successful and strong, many of us are fragile on the inside. Heavy energy can make accessing our original radiance seem impossible. This can show up as;

- Fatigue, apathy or listlessness
- Overwhelm, anxiety or fearfulness about the future
- Restlessness, uncertainty or an inability to focus
- A sense of being disconnected or stuck

No One Left Out

I am passionate about doing my part to ensure that everyone is given a chance to share their gifts freely and fully. When we are free of heavy energy and patterns that are no longer serving us, life becomes a magical and abundant experience of celebration. An open heart is powerful medicine. I work with talented, creative and open-hearted people who are often working with others;

- Hearth-centered entrepreneurs and business owners
- Energy medicine and healing arts practitioners
- Artists, dancers, writers and other creative spirits
- Resourceful yoga teachers, body workers and alternative therapists
- Teachers, wisdom keepers and coaches

Energized Art

As I consciously began to weave my art and healing worlds together, I began to notice that whatever I was making while in the energy of love and peace became infused with that same energy. Most people understand that original works of art hold the energy of the artist so this may not be surprising. Today I enjoy weaving the energy of love into all of my work and designing custom works that hold the energy of what is emerging or what is being called in.

Beauty, Balance & Peace Chakra Mobiles

Ideal for home studios, meditation places and anywhere you want to hold the energy of balance, Beauty, Balance & Peace Chakra Mobiles are infused with the energy of peace for all. Each of the seven mandalas represents the energy of a balanced chakra.

The heart chakra is highlighted at the center representing its key role as the bridge between the 3 earth chakras below and the three higher chakras above.

Inspired by Indigenous Medicine men and women who work to dream in a better world for future generations, these mobiles are designed to hold the energy of a balanced chakra system to invite the healing energies of love to the spaces they are displayed in. Once purchased, they can be activated for personal balance by booking a Chakra Cleanse.

Full Potential Energy Weave Activations

Hand-made and personalized to hold the energy of what is emerging Full Potential Energy Weaves reflect the beauty and gifts being nurtured. The four openings represent the four directions and the central channel acts like a cocoon or womb for what is gestating to grow at its own pace. Purchase includes a consultation before the work begins and after to discuss what may be being revealed or held.
